BIDDERS FLOCK TO GET CONTRACT

County Commissioners Took 36 Estimates on Paving of Main and Second Streets.

AT 3 O'CLOCK THIS AFTERNOON

Successful Bidders Were Awarded Contract at 4:30—Took Time to Deliberate.

The Adams Contracting Company of Zanesville, Ohio, were awarded the contract for both streets.

At four o'clock this afternoon the board of county commissioners had not yet awarded the contract for the paving of Main and Second streets under the three-mile road law. They went into their private office at three o'clock and were still deliberating at a late hour this afternoon. It was expected that they would take much time, due to the large number of contracts.

Probably more interest was evinced in the letting of the contracts today than anything which has happened in the court house in recent years. The commissioners' room was crowded so full that standing room was at a premium all afternoon. Many local people who are interested in the improvement, were present all day besides the numerous contractors and representatives from the bidding firms.

The bidding was done separately on each street so that two different firms might be awarded the contract. There were twenty bids submitted on the Main street improvement and nineteen on the Second street improvement. The companies represented are located in all parts of the United States. Many construction firms in the State of Indiana, however, and many in this vicinity, including Greensburg, Connersville and Greenfield were among the list of contestants for the contract.

One feature of the day was the fact that a woman was here, representing a contracting firm and submitted a bid on the improvement. Miss S. M. Aldrich, treasurer of the Hoosier Construction Co. of Indianapolis was an interested contestant and submitted her bid to the board.

The bids were given on different kinds of brick so that in many cases contracting firms made numerous estimates, in each one a different kind of brick to be used. This fact made the awarding of the contract all the harder for the commissioners as they were compelled to decide which was the best material to be used and then decide which firm made the lowest estimate and to whom the contract should be given.

NAMES ENOUGH FOR MILROY TRIPLETS

Anderson Township Curiosities Are Called John Lockridge, Henry Guin and Walter Hume.

TWO OF BABIES LOOK ALIKE

The three Milroy curiosities, the red-headed triplet sons of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Campbell, also called Jack McGinn, have been named at last and a sigh of relief has gone up from a thousand pairs of lips. Two of the triplets are so nearly alike that they cannot be told apart. One of them has been named John Lockridge Campbell and the other Henry Guin Campbell. The smallest one has been named Walter Hume Campbell.

LECTURE? NOT FOR YOUR UNCLE KIN

Hubbard Probably Made His Only Platform Speech at the Rush County Chautauqua.

HE ASKS A MILLION A MINUTE

It will be remembered that Kin Hubbard lectured here last summer. It seems that Rush county people were enjoying more than they knew. From all appearances it seems that his Rushville engagement will be the only platform appearance of Abe Martin.

Or it may be that Bible classes are not the kind of audiences he likes. Anyway here's what the Indianapolis News says about an offer Kin received recently:

One day recently Kin Hubbard, the originator of "Abe Martin," received a letter from the Loogootee (Ind.) Bible Class for Men, asking his terms for a lecture. Now, if there is anything that Kin absolutely dotes on it is—lecturing! He much prefers it to having a leg amputated or joy riding on a buzz saw. In replying to the letter Kin simply said his terms would be $1,000,000 a minute, provided the Bible class could get the Marine band to play while he was speaking.

Mr. Hubbard received a reply from D. M. Robins of Loogootee. It was this:

Dear Mr. Hubbard—We have considered your favor of May 23 and have decided to engage you at your price for ten minutes provided we can get the band. Sincerely yours, Loogootee Bible Class For Men.

D. M. Robins, President.

TOOK INTEREST IN BOY'S CORN SCHOOL

W. O. Headlee, Whose Funeral Occurs Wednesday Afternoon, Was One of Best Superintendents.

MADE IT PERMANENT FEATURE

The arrangements for the W. O. Headlee funeral have been changed and will be held at the Main Street Christian church Wednesday afternoon at one-thirty o'clock, instead of ten in the morning. The services will be conducted by the Rev. R. W. Abberley, pastor of the church and burial will take place in East Hill cemetery.

Since the death of W. O. Headlee yesterday morning, many complimentary remarks have been made concerning his diligent life. He is recognized as one of the best county superintendents ever in office, being the first one to take an interest in the work of the boy's corn school and make it a permanent factor in the life of every boy in the county.

Although the railway up the Jungfrau in Switzerland is only completed half way up, its 1909 receipts were 567,000 francs.

NEW BUILDING WILL BE MODERN

Davis Bros. Expect to Erect Cement Structure on Site of One Destroyed.

INSURANCE TO BE ADJUSTED

Ed Caldwell Refuses to be Convinced That Blaze Was Not Work of Incendiary.

Davis brothers, who owned the barn destroyed by fire Saturday night, will in all probability erect a new and modern structure on the site of the old barn in a very short time. They expect to make the building modern in every respect and much more expensive than the one destroyed by fire. The structure will be as large as the other one and will be built out of cement with steel beams.

The theory that the fire was the work of an incendiary is still the belief of many. Ed Caldwell, whose bus line was completely destroyed, and who was one of the heaviest losers says that he is absolutely positive that the barn was fired. He refuses to state anything further than he believes that the building was Several people in that vicinity saw the two men in the buggy hurriedly leaving the scene of the fire after it had a good start and just as the alarm was turned in. Policeman Wolters saw the men making a quick departure and his description answers that given by the other people who saw them. Miss Lola Vansickle who ran to turn in the alarm remembers seeing the buggy rush past her at a rapid gait.

Mrs. Lucinda Caldwell, the mother of Ed Caldwell, who lives opposite the place where the fire originated, saw two men in the vicinity of the barn all evening and went in off the porch for fear that they were intoxicated. Everything points to the fact that the two strangers were in some way implicated with the starting of the blaze as their actions were very mysterious and they left hurriedly as soon as the blaze was discovered. It is the belief of Mr. Caldwell that the barn was set on fire and he refuses to be convinced otherwise.

Davis brothers who owned the barn which was destroyed wish to take this occasion to thank the members of the fire department and bystanders who assisted in extinguishing the fire. They praised the timely work of the local department and said that they did well to keep the flames confined to that one building.

All of the carcasses have been removed, but the work of cleaning up the wreck can not be started until the insurance has been adjusted. This will probably require several days. Then the debris will be cleaned up and plans will be made for the new structure. As soon as the matter of insurance is arranged, R. S. Davis expects to go to Detroit to buy equipment to replace that lost in the barn. They must have more cabs to attend the funeral business which they have had here, was in attendance today and took part in the shoot. Tom Marshall of Chicago has been here in previous years and was here today to uphold his reputation made in former years.

The bus line is operating today as usual with two cabs and an improvised baggage wagon. They expect to be back "in the harness" in a few days. Ed Caldwell went to New Castle and Anderson today to purchase two buses and other material.

STATE AMATEUR LOSES HIS HOLD

Roy Kanouse of St. Paul Gives Way to H. B. Hauger of Indianapolis Who Breaks 174 Out of 200.

FIRST DAY'S SHOOT A SUCCESS

Third Annual Tournament of Club Opens Auspiciously—High Score is 190 Out of 200.

Under very auspicious circumstances and with almost ideal weather conditions the third annual tournament of the Rushville Gun and Country club opened this morning. A good crowd of people from the city and over the county attended. The number of women at the shoot today was much larger than has ever attended. The crowd today, the interest taken in the shoot and the number of good scores made, stamps the shoot as the most successful one in the history of the club.

The highest score at the shoot, 190 out of two hundred, was made by Woolfork Henderson of Lexington, Ky., a professional. The second highest score of the day was made by Charles O. LeCompte, a professional of Eminence, Ky., he breaking 183 out of a possible two hundred clay pigeons. Other professionals also made good records.

W. B. Hauger of Indianapolis led the amateurs with 174 out of two hundred. Dr. Britton of Indianapolis held the second high amateur place by laying low 173 out of a possible two hundred clay birds. Roy Kanouse of St. Paul, at present State amateur champion, did not uphold his record today and only made 172 out of two hundred. Dr. F. M. Sparks and Dr. E. F. VanOsdel were the only local shooters, Dr. Sparks leading with 151 out of two hundred.

The shooting began promptly at ten o'clock this morning and continued all day until about four o'clock this afternoon, no intermission being taken for dinner. The same program will be followed tomorrow, a half-hour being given in the morning before the shoot begins for practice. Meals were served in the club house and the day was a very enjoyable one.

A number of sportsmen from all parts of the State and a number from other States were here for the event today and expect to remain for tomorrow. A number of the powder companies and gun companies had representatives here taking part in the shoot. The professionals were much in evidence, making numerous scores and breaking the clay pigeons in regular order.

Ed Voris, ex-mayor of Crawfordsville, who has been a regular attendant at the tournament here, was present today and took part. He made a good score with his gun. Dr. Straughn of Waveland, who at one time was the amateur State champion, attended and gave the present State champion a good run for his victory. The Indianapolis party of sportsmen who have attended the local tournament since they have been held here, was in attendance today and took part in the shoot. Tom Marshall of Chicago has been here in previous years and was here today to uphold his reputation made in former years.

TO REDISTRICT TOWNSHIP.

The board of commissioners today issued an order appointing Verne W. Norris, J. Vincent Young and A. L. Stewart as a committee to prepare plans to re-district Rushville township, because precinct number five has over 300 votes in it, the maximum number allowed by law.

NOT YET OUT OF DANGER

Miss Marguerite Gates, Victim of Burns, is Resting Easy.

Miss Marguerite Gates, the young daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Gates, who was badly burned Saturday morning, when her night dress caught fire from an open fire, is not much improved. She rested well last night and today and did not suffer much pain. The attending physician says that it is impossible to tell the results of the injury yet and that she is not by any means out of danger.

WATSON TO TALK AT COMMENCEMENT

Will Deliver Address at Exercises at Closing of Jackson Township Schools in Howard County.

EXPECTED TO DRAW A CROWD

On next Sunday evening at Sycamore, will take place the commencement exercises of the schools of Jackson township, a professional. The second highest score of the day was made by Charles O. LeCompte, a professional of Eminence, Ky., he breaking 183 out of a possible two hundred clay pigeons. Other professionals also made good records.

That the church will be filled to overflowing is the guess of everybody in the neighborhood. Mr. Watson's reputation as an orator, coupled with the natural interest in the graduating exercises will have the effect of attracting everybody in that part of the county to the church.

Mr. Watson will come from his home in Rushville to this city. He will be met here by a committee which if the weather is agreeable will take him to Sycamore in an automobile. Should the weather be cold or stormy the trip will be made by traction car. The exercises will begin at 7:45 o'clock.

The bans must be announced two more successive Sundays before the marriage will take place. The wedding date is announced as Thursday, June 23, to take place at the Catholic church in Kokomo.

The prospective bridegroom is one of the most popular young business men in the city. He and his brother, Pete Demmer, own the Wall Street cigar store in Third street and have a large trade for cigars, which they manufacture, the principal one being the Demmer's bond. Mr. Demmer has been closely associated with all industrial movements in the city, having been one of the officials of the Young Men's Commercial club and an enthusiastic member of the Retail Merchants' Association. His coming marriage has been a matter of much speculation by his friends, who have made many jokes at his expense.

FREIGHT RATES NOT TO ADVANCE

Railroads Will Wait Until New Law Is In Force.

SOME MUTUAL CONCESSIONS

In Consideration of the Government's Vacation of Injunction and Dismissal of Suit to Dissolve Western Trunk Line Committee the Railroads Will Recall Their New Tariff Sheets and File No New Rates Until the New Law Is Effective.

Washington, June 7.—As a result of the conference between President Taft and E. P. Ripley, president of the Atchison, Topeka & Santa Fe railway; Walker D. Hines, acting chairman of the executive committee, Atchison, Topeka & Santa Fe railway; Frederick A. Delano, president of the Wabash Railroad company, and C. M. Felton, president of the Chicago Great Western railroad, a committee representing the twenty-five railroad companies in a federal suit brought by the government in Missouri, in which Judge Dyer granted an injunction restraining increases in rates, the twenty-five railroads of the middle west involved in the federal injunction proceedings under the Sherman anti-trust law will withdraw all increased freight rates that they have filed with the interstate commerce commission since May 1 and will voluntarily submit them to the commission for a ruling as to their reasonableness. These railroads also will refrain from filing any further advances until the pending administration railroad bill has become a law and the way has been opened for a legal investigation on the part of the interstate commerce commission into all rate increases before they become effective.

The federal government in return for these concessions will have the temporary injunction which it has obtained vacated and will discontinue the suit for the dissolution of the Western Trunk Line committee under the Sherman anti-trust law.

In effect the administration will substitute the operation of the railroad bill about to be enacted for the Sherman anti-trust law as regards rate making by railroads. The agreement between the government and the railroads as viewed here, lifts the menace that has overshadowed the transportation of the country ever since Mr. Wickesham undertook to apply the Sherman anti-trust law to a situation that has been regarded for years as inevitable.

The agreement reached between President Taft and representatives of the railroads will extend beyond the twenty-five roads comprising the Western Trunk Line committee. All of the eastern trunk lines which recently filed increased rates and also the twenty-four railroads composing the Chicago and Ohio River association will undoubtedly follow the example set by the Western Trunk Line committee and withdraw all increased freight rates that have been filed with the interstate commerce commission since May 1 last. President Brown of the New York Central, McCrea of the Pennsylvania and the heads of other eastern trunk lines are conferring with President Taft at the White House today, and it has been plainly intimated that they will join in the action taken.

The general effect of the understanding reached at the White House will be that all increases in freight rates that have been filed since May 1 and that have been contemplated by the railroads of the country within the next few months will be suspended in their operation for at least a year. This suspension will be far-reaching in its effect upon many railroads that have been counting on the increased revenue from the advances, but in the opinion of railroad men here, this disturbance will be trivial compared with what would have resulted through uncertainty arising over an attempt on the part of the administration to enforce the Sherman anti-trust law against the present method of rate making.

It is the plan of the presidents of the twenty-five western railroads, and their example undoubtedly will be followed by the executives of all the other roads in the country, to withdraw as soon as possible the increases filed since May 1, and to refrain from putting in any further advances until the new railroad bill becomes a law. The administration railroad bill has now passed the senate and the house and probably will be sent to conference today. It is the expectation of President Taft that the bill will be ready for his signature before July 1.

As soon as the bill becomes a law all of the roads will refile the rates that they have withdrawn and also the rates whose filing has been held in abeyance through the present agreement. Under the terms of the new railroad law as it is expected to appear on the statute books, the commission is authorized upon its own initiative to undertake an investigation into the reasonableness of all increases in rates. The commission will be empowered to suspend the rates for 120 days, pending the investigation into their reasonableness. If at the end of that period the commission has not arrived at any conclusion it will have the power under the new law to suspend

GRAY HAIRS BANISHED.

The old idea of using sage for darkening the hair is again coming in vogue. Our grandmothers used to have dark, glossy hair at the age of seventy-five, while our mothers have white hair before they are fifty. Our grandmothers used to make a "sage tea" and apply it to their hair. The tea made their hair soft and glossy and gradually restored the natural color. One objection to using such a preparation was the trouble of making it, especially as it had to be made every two or three days on account of it souring quickly. This objection has been overcome and, by asking almost any first-class druggist for Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur the public can get a superior preparation of sage, with the addition of sulphur, another valuable remedy for hair and scalp troubles. Daily use of this preparation will not only quickly restore the color of the hair but will also stop the hair from falling out and make it grow. It is sold by all druggists for 50c. and $1.00 a bottle, or is sent direct by the Wyeth Chemical Company, 74 Cortland St., New York City, upon receipt of price.

Motion Pictures Portray Happenings in Great World

Few People Realize the Magnitude of Moving Picture Business or the Many Millions of Dollars Spent in Producing Scenes Witnessed by Thousands In All Parts of the Country

Growing from a five cent theater in one of our Eastern cities to a business that embraces a $200,000,000 trust and a series of hundreds of thousand small amusement resorts is the history of the moving picture theatre which has found a permanent place in American life and a warm spot in the heart of every man, woman and child who is a lover of amusement. When the Rushville theatre goer walks under the bright lights in front of the moving picture show, passes his nickel to the girl selling tickets, who is all smiles and all eyes as she greets the amusement seeker, he does not realize that he is walking into a branch theatre of the largest theatrical trust in the world. Neither has he any conception of the amount of money spent in these resorts every year and of the vast amount of work entailed in manufacturing the films, and preparing them to amuse the millions.

The cry of "This way, this way, you're just in time for the big show, just commencing," is now heard on the streets of practically every city of any consequence in America, and by the flashing electric signs, the call of the catchy music inside, and above all the atmosphere of mirth and gaiety that permeates these theatres men, women and children are induced to part with their nickels in order that the moving picture show manager may be able to present them a performance worth three times the money.

During the last ten years some of the best actors in the world, the cleverest inventors, chemists and capitalists have been striving to perfect the moving picture industry and they have succeeded. New machines to improve the presentation of the pictures, new processes in photography and the brains of some of the best business men have all been put to use to make moving pictures as nearly perfect as possible.

An army of artists is engaged in the manufacture of the films. Many of America's best actors, and vaudeville artists have been induced to leave the stage and to join the troups of moving picture actors who are paid enormous salaries for doing work not nearly so hard as that which they were formerly forced to perform on the stage in order to make good with the public. Playwrights, stage managers and artists have been called into the moving picture industry, and art, and genius are represented on the films which are shown in Rushville five cent theatres whenever they are made.

The films are produced at enormous expense. Rushville moving picture managers state that a visit to the Selig Manufacturing company's plant in Chicago would open any one's eyes to the magnitude of the moving picture industry in America. Besides employing hundreds of men and women, the company owns a park where scenes shown in the pictures are acted and stage properties valued at hundreds of thousands of dollars. Everything that is needed for the production of the pictures is owned by this company. They own everything from a railroad engine on down to horses, ponies, dogs, wolves, cats and costumes from every nation represented on the globe. As Indian pictures are very popular this company employs a tribe of Indians to camp on the park property in order that they may be close at hand any time they are needed to take part in a plot where an Indian scene is used. Cowboys and trick riders are also employed by this company to pose before the cameras when pictures of western life are produced. Emotional actors, comedians, acrobats and many of the most beautiful women in the world have signed contracts to appear in roles for this company at any time their services are needed.

The question is often asked where did the five cent theaters have its origin. Several years ago a man who had been in the theatrical business for years in an eastern city conceived the plan of starting a small theater in a good location on one of the business streets of the city. Moving picture machines were then in the infancy of their development and the patch to The Press recently from Washington stated that the government has made arrangements to carry on educational work by the use of moving pictures. The head of the board of education of New York City schools recently placed orders for films showing the process of coining money in the government mints and these views will be used in all the schools of New York in order to show the students exactly how United States coins are made. The events of the world as shown in lifelike actions will soon be in reach of people thousands of miles away. It is predicted that in the next 25 years newspapers will use moving picture bulletins in order to reproduce the great events of the day in actions instead of words.

Motion pictures are now taken of almost every event of importance in all parts of the world. Moving pictures showing an exact reproduction of King Edward's funeral procession will soon be placed on the market. Soon after King Edward's death enterprising manufacturers from America invaded views of this great spectacle and within another month Rushville people will have the opportunity of witnessing this funeral procession in which all the crowned heads in Europe took part. Arrangements have already been made to take pictures of the Jeffries-Johnson prize fights on the Fourth of July and the enormous sum of $100,000 will be paid for the privilege.

The time will come when a man will say, "I will not spend the time and money to attend this event. I will wait a week and go to the moving picture show." Moving pictures will in time become one of the greatest aids to education in existence. For many years the inhabitants of one portion of the world have been able to know what their fellowmen are accomplishing by means of the telegraph and in the future the moving picture machine will make it possible for the different races of the earth to meet face to face and each man can be an eye witness to the event transpiring in other parts of the world. For years it has been said that the telegraph has brought the nations of the earth in closer unity, and that it has aided in the plan for universal peace. If mere words can accomplish these things, the moving picture machine which is coming into universal use will have even greater effect in creating a feeling of sympathy and love between men of all nations.

When the moving picture machine was first invented it was made the means of presenting the public with the sentimental, sensational and the horrors of the world. However, the moving picture trust has taken an ethical stand on this question and of their own accord they have asked police commissioners, clergymen and educators to act on a censoring board in order that the films which they produce may not be injurious to public morals. They have realized that when a display is made of crime and ignorance that pictures of this nature have a tendency to foster immorality, and on this account, and for the good of their industry in future years have made efforts to make moving pictures clean, wholesome, educational and moral forms of entertainment. Americans as a whole are not conversant with the reforms of this nature that have been made during the past year and for this reason there is sentiment in some sections of the country favoring laws that will demand the closing of five cent theatres throughout America, and branding them as a menace to public morals. But a law of this nature will never be passed. With the efforts made by moving picture companies to improve the nature of the subjects shown in their films, a feeling will arise favoring the moving picture show, and hailing it as a great factor for good in our country.

Rushville people who have been in the habit of attending the five cent theatres in this city in past years claim that they can see a great change in the class of pictures placed on display and that the subject matter of the films in much better than it was ten years ago. Although the five cent theatre has not as yet taken on the nature of an educational institution, nevertheless many of the films shown in Rushville theaters are instructive as well as entertaining.

Tribute to Mark Twain

Whether Mark Twain was greeting the guests at one of the lawn-parties given for the benefit of the library by the ladies of the neighborhood, or talking to the plumber, the mail-carrier or the groceryman, he always succeeded in injecting a feeling of good-will and neighborly interest, entirely devoid of condescension, which endeared the old gentleman to all who came in contact with him, and during his illness nothing but the sincerest sympathy and good wishes found voice among the people of Redding; for while they were proud of their neighbor's fame and achievements, it was the sterling qualities of the man and neighbor which won their affection and esteem. And in the little community where he died it will be those qualities which will be talked of at the chimney corner and

June 19th

Was the day Louis Chevrolet got his Buick car all harnessed up. Loco, Knox, Stoddard, Apperson, Fiat and other cars were racing for the big Cobe Cup. Bill Mead timed Chevrolet a mile a minute, they say, with his Buick; all other cars he passed, Cyrus joined the crowd as they called aloud. Chevrolet made the grand-stand gasp. The women hollowed, "Chevrolet's won," and the crowd yelled out as one, "I love my horse and wagon, but oh you Buick Car."

Tuesday, June 7, 1910.

The Democratic party has received another jolt—Tom Watson of Georgia has returned to the fold.

They say there's some June weather tucked away in the Southwest and headed for Rush county. Don't sidetrack it.

And four hundred years hence they may be having a Hudson-Curtiss celebration, with a replica of that ridiculously crude aeroplane.

A Fitting Monument.

No better monument to the life work of W. O. Headlee could be left than the annual chautauqua. He struggled hard to get the movement started and had the satisfaction in the last year of his life of seeing the association incorporated and put on a business basis.

If each citizen could do as much for a community as this how much better off we would be. All of us can't establish chautauquas and few of us can be instrumental in anything that will stand out as prominent in the life of a community as the chautauqua. But each of us can do something. If we can't be the leader in a movement we can at least hold up the hands of the man who is in the lead. And after all there could be no leaders were it not for the "men in the trenches."

"Always ready to help" is a beautiful tribute to a life. It is not for the personal glory that men do these things. It is because they like to do them—because they feel they should. It may be well said over the grave of Mr. Headlee—"He did a great work." And perhaps this may not be said of you. But if the phrase "always ready to help" is used it will mean much.

Railroad Rate War.

It is well that the agreement has been reached between the railroad presidents and President Taft. And it is a victory for the administration. The government has accomplished what it set out to accomplish and has done it in such a way that it is satisfactory to the railroads.

There are three important points in this little skirmish between the government and the railroads. In the first place President Taft has shown beyond a doubt that he proposes to use the "big stick" when necessary. He wished the railroads to wait until the new railroad bill was in effect and the matter could be taken up by the interstate commerce commission. It was the only fair course. The railroads will wait.

In the second place the President has shown that he wishes to be fair with the railroads. With their enormous investment, their close relation with the business of the country and their control of the vast army of employees a blind attack, with much gusto and little common sense, would not only be foolish but disastrous. Many of the newspapers of the country have seemed pleased that war on the railroads was imminent. It is the popular belief that railroads make so much money they do not know what to do with it. And the popular belief may be right. But in such important cases it is not safe to proceed on such grounds. Only after the most careful investigation should action be taken. President Taft has shown that he intends to be firm and yet fair with the transportation companies of the country.

And on the third count, the railroads have learned something. Regardless of the justice or injustice of the proposed increase in rates they have found that the administration means business. If the railroads expected to bark and see the President run they have been disappointed. If they had any of the "ruling-with-a-high-hand" notion in their head, the President has shown them that the people, the "poor consumer" if you wish to call him that, also has some interests at stake.

TUCKER IS STILL HIDING IN CANADA

Missing Gwynneville Merchant Never Wrote to Ham, the Blacksmith, Nor sent $1.60.

PASTOR'S LETTER NOT READ

It is reported on good authority that John Tucker, the Gwynneville merchant, who left a few weeks ago, leaving behind him bills amounting to several thousand dollars, is not in California, but is still in hiding in Canada. The story was given out that Jasper Ham, a blacksmith of Gwynneville had received $1.60 from Tucker in payment for a bill which he owed him. It is now authentically reported that Ham never received a letter from Tucker and that he jokingly told the story, it having its foundation in that manner.

The letter written by the Rev. S. J. Hawthorne, the missing Gwynneville Christian minister, was not read in church Sunday as was reported that it would be. The facts in the letter were disclosed to the church board and they are inclined to let the matter drop as it is said that they sympathize with the pastor.

ROBBERS GIVEN PRISON SENTENCE

Three Thieves Who Made Daylight Robbery at Barrett Home Get 2 to 14 Year Term.

PLEAD GUILTY IN GREENSBURG

Will Harlow, Homer Marion and Charles Henderson, the three thieves who were arrested in Greensburg a few hours after they had robbed James Barrett's house here, pleaded guilty to the charge before Judge Hacker in the circuit court yesterday afternoon and were each sentenced to the penitentiary at Jeffersonville for a term of from two to fourteen years. It will be remembered that they made a bold daylight robbery at the Barrett home in North Perkins street about noon one day a few weeks ago and were caught as they were alighting from a train at Greensburg for the robbery of the Crooks hardware store. For that reason they were held there and sentenced.

HAS A SENSATION.

(New Castle Courier.)

Knightstown has a big sensation on its hands. Two prominent club women had a wordy debate in the post-office a few days ago that was later resumed in one of the local dry goods stores. The wronged wife is insisting that her rival, who is married, shall be summarily "fired" from the social and literary clubs and also expelled from church.

Both are members of the "high collar brigade," and the end is not yet. The matter was not new to the public at large, many wondering why the "blow-off" has been so long coming.

AMUSEMENTS

The Palace theater played to capacity houses last night, the occasion being a big double program, the feature of the bill being a lecture on the state prison at Joliet, Ill. The illustrated lecture will be repeated tonight and a Biograph subject will be shown. It is a comedy equal to any ever produced by the biograph company.

Large crowds were entertained last night by the long illustrated talk by Paul G. Baxter on the subject, "Behind Prison Bars." Tonight will be the last opportunity to enjoy the unusual treat. The lecture, illustrated by one hundred views, taken from the prison, is an education within itself. The pictures were taken from the outside and interior of the prison and cover every phase of prison life. Pictures of a number of noted criminals are shown and their record explained. Mr. Baxter is well qualified to talk on the subject as he was employed in the prison for ten years. It is a great moral lesson, made more impressive by the views. They not only show the men's department, but also the woman's prison complete and the sixty women prisoners, how they are kept in subjection and at work. Mr. Baxter is an intelligent man and delivers a fearless lecture on prison life as it is today.

The Star Grand presents a Selig western drama tonight entitled "The Trimming of Paradise Gulch," the most absolutely new and original Western story ever put in picture form. We find a little mountain tavern near the foot hills where the cowboys and rangers were wont to spend their spare time when they were not chasing a steer. One nice summer day the camp was all in a turmoil; the stage had arrived and among its occupants was a young lady, demure and sweet. Several of the residents thereabouts and a smooth looking chap of the city type who afterwards proves to be a vender in cheap jewelry and is out for the harvest. Nell, the young lady in question establishes a school in art, recognizing in the cowboy clientele excellent material to further her scheme. She soon has them all paying marked homage—willing to take lessons just in order to admire their teacher. They are suddenly seized with the idea of making little presents of rings and jewelry, little dreaming that the (dark horse) man in the background selling rings was none other than her husband. Things assume an exceedingly interesting state of affairs. Earl Robertson will sing "Vas Iss Loas Mit Looie?"

The Vaudet management offers a Bison feature film for their patrons tonight in the subject, "The Redwing's Loyalty." It is a thrilling

"The disgrace!—the disgrace!—it's ruin—degradation! It's the end of everything!—the end of everything!"

Annie regarded with contempt this poor, weak, walling creature who lacked the moral courage to do what was merely right. Her voice was not unkind as she said:

"I don't want to disgrace you—or ruin you. But what am I to do—tell me, what am I to do?"

"I don't know," moaned her companion helplessly.

"Howard must be saved."

"Yes."

"Will you tell Judge Brewster or shall I?"

"Judge Brewster! Why should he know?" cried Alicia, startled. More composedly and as if resigned to the inevitable, she went on: "Yes, I suppose he must know sooner or later, but I—"

She broke down again and burst into tears. Annie watched her in silence.

"It's tough—isn't it?" she said sympathetically.

"Yes," sobbed Alicia through her tears, "it's—it's tough!" Rising, she dried her eyes and said hastily: "Don't say anything now. Give me a few hours. Then I can think what is best to be done."

Annie was about to reply when the office door suddenly opened and Judge Brewster entered. Addressing Alicia, he said:

"Pardon me, Mrs. Jeffries, I hope I haven't kept you waiting." Noticing her agitation and traces of tears, he looked surprised. He made no comment but turned to Annie:

"I have been talking to Dr. Bernstein over the 'phone."

Annie approached him softly and said in a whisper:

"I've told Mrs. Jeffries that you have undertaken Howard's defense."

Judge Brewster smiled at his wealthy client, almost apologetically, Annie thought. Then addressing her, he said:

"Yes, I've been quite busy since I saw you. I have put three of the best

ACOMIA

Many Men Have it and Most of Them Worry About it.

Acomia—It's a magic word—what does it mean? Simply absence of hair.

A baldheaded man has ACOMIA—A million more men will have ACOMIA a year from now if they do not get rid of disgusting dandruff.

Dandruff is caused by a germ. This germ is a persistent sort of germ. He lives on the vitality stored in the hair roots, and the longer you tolerate his presence the surer you are of growing bald.

Kill the dandruff germs: that's the only way to keep from growing bald. Any capable doctor will tell you.

Parisian Sage is the most pleasant and invigorating hair dressing and dandruff remover in the world. It is not sticky or greasy. It will make women's hair soft, silky and luxuriant in a few days. detectives we have on the trail of the woman who visited Underwood that night. I don't think the police have been trying very hard to find her. They're satisfied with Howard's confession. But we want her and we'll get her!"

"Oh!" gasped Alicia.

The judge was proceeding to tell of other steps he had taken when the door opened and the head clerk entered, followed by Mr. Jeffries.

"I told Mr. Jeffries that Mrs. Jeffries was here," said the clerk.

"You might have told him that there were two Mrs. Jeffries here," laughed the judge.

The clerk retired and the banker, completely ignoring the presence of his daughter-in-law, turned to his wife and said:

"I regret, my dear, that you should be subjected to these family annoyances."

Judge Brewster came forward and cleared his throat as if preliminary to something important he had to say. Addressing the banker, he said boldly:

"Mr. Jeffries, I have decided to undertake Howard's defense."

His aristocratic client was taken completely by surprise. For a moment he could say nothing, but simply stared at the lawyer as if unable to believe his ears. With an effort, he at last exclaimed: "Indeed!—then you will please consider our business relations to have ceased from this moment."

The lawyer bowed.

"As you please," he said suavely.

The banker turned to his wife.

"Alicia—come."

He offered his arm and turned toward the door. Alicia, in distress, looked back at Annie, who nodded reassuringly to her. Judge Brewster rose and, going to the door, opened it. The banker bowed stiffly and said: "Pray don't trouble. Good morning, sir."

As Alicia followed her husband out, she turned and whispered to Annie: "Come and see me at my home."

When she had disappeared the judge came back into the room and sat down at his desk.

"Well, that's done!" he exclaimed with a sigh of relief. Rummaging for a moment among his papers, he looked up and said with an encouraging smile:

"Now, if you please, we will go over that evidence—bit by bit."

CHAPTER XVII.

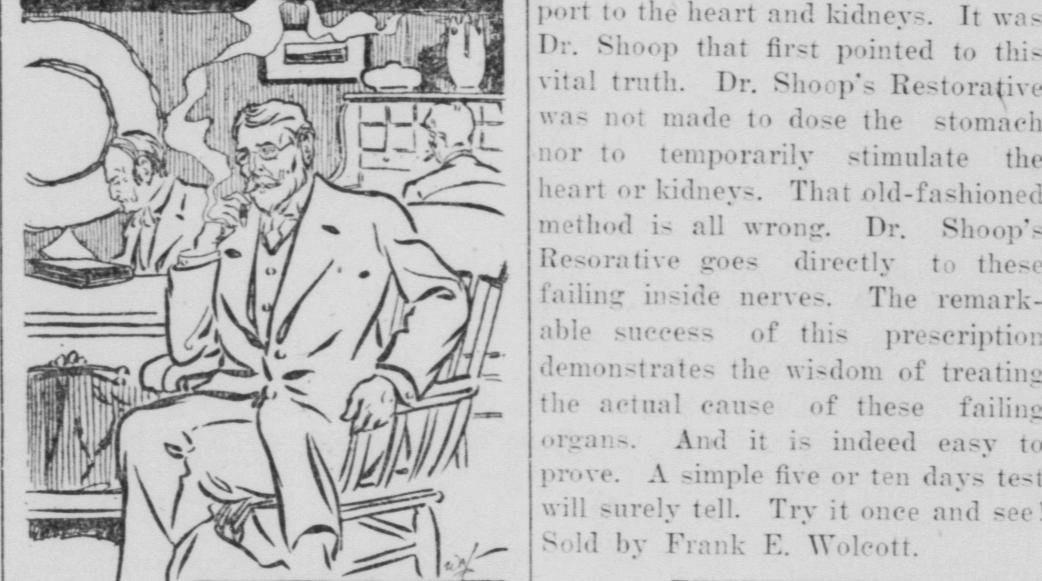

The news that Judge Brewster would appear for the defendant at the approaching trial of Howard Jeffries went through the town like wildfire, and caused an immediate revival in the public interest, which was beginning to slacken for want of hourly stimulation. Rumor said that there had been a complete reconciliation in the Jeffries family, that the banker was now convinced of his son's innocence, and was determined to spend a fortune, if necessary, to save him. This and other reports of similar nature were all untrue, but the judge let them pass without contradiction. They were harmless, he chuckled, and if anything, helped Howard's cause.

Meantime he himself had not been idle. When once he made up his mind to do a thing he was not content with half measures. Night and day he worked on the case, preparing evidence, seeing witnesses and experts, until he had gradually built up a bulwark of defense which the police would find difficult to tear down. Yet he was not wholly reassured as to the outcome until Annie, the day following the interview in his office, informed him breathlessly that she had found the mysterious woman.

The judge was duly elated; now it was plain sailing, indeed! There had always been the possibility that Howard's confession to the police was true, that he had really killed Underwood. But now they had found the one important witness, the mysterious woman who was in the apartment a few minutes before the shooting and who was in possession of a letter in which Underwood declared his intention of shooting himself, doubt was no longer possible. Acquittal was a foregone conclusion. So pleased was the judge at Annie's find that he did not insist on knowing the woman's name. He saw that Annie preferred, for some reason, not to give it—even to her legal adviser—and he let her have her way, exacting only that the woman should be produced the instant he needed her. The young woman readily assented. Of course, there remained the "confession," but that had been obtained unfairly, illegally, fraudulently. The next important step was to arrange a meeting at the judge's house at which Dr. Bernstein, the hypnotic expert, would be present and to which should be invited both Capt. Clinton and Howard's father. In front of all these witnesses the judge would accuse the police captain of browbeating his prisoner into making an untrue confession. Perhaps the captain could be argued into admitting the possibility of a mistake having been made. If, further, he could be convinced of the existence of documentary evidence showing that Underwood really committed suicide he might be willing to recede from his position in order to protect himself. At any rate it was worth trying. The judge insisted, also, that to this meeting the mysterious woman witness should also come, to be produced at such a moment as the lawyer might consider opportune. Annie merely demanded a few hours' time so she could make the appointment and soon returned with a solemn promise that the woman would attend the meeting and come forward at whatever moment called upon.

Three evenings later there was an impressive gathering at Judge Brewster's residence. In the handsomely appointed library on the second floor were seated Dr. Bernstein, Mr. Jeffries and the judge. Each was absorbed in his own thoughts. Dr. Bernstein was puffing at a big black cigar; the banker stared vacantly into space. The judge, at his desk, examined some legal papers. Not a word was spoken.

Each Was Absorbed in His Own Thoughts.

ken. They seemed to be waiting for a fourth man who had not yet arrived. Presently Judge Brewster looked up and said:

"Gentlemen, I expect Capt. Clinton in a few minutes, and the matter will be placed before you."

Mr. Jeffries frowned. It was greatly against his wish that he had been dragged to this conference. Peevishly, he said:

"I've no wish to be present at the meeting. You know that and yet you sent for me."

Judge Brewster looked up at him quickly and said quietly yet decisively:

"Mr. Jeffries, it is absolutely necessary that you be present when I tell Capt. Clinton that he has either willfully or ignorantly forced your son to confess to having committed a crime of which I am persuaded he is absolutely innocent."

The banker shrugged his shoulders. "If I can be of service, of course, I—I am only too glad—but what can I say—what can I do?"

"Nothing," replied the judge curtly. "But the moral effect of your presence is invaluable." More amiably he went on: "Believe me, Jeffries, I wouldn't have taken this step unless I was absolutely sure of my position. I have been informed that Underwood committed suicide, and to-night evidence confirming this statement is to be placed in my hands. The woman who paid him that mysterious visit just before his death has promised to come here and tell us what she knows. Now, if Capt. Clinton can be got to admit the possibility of his being mistaken it means that your son will be free in a few days."

"Who has given you this information?" demanded the banker skeptically.

"Howard's wife," answered the judge quietly. The banker started and the lawyer went on: "She knows who the woman is, and has promised to bring her here to-night with documentary proof of Underwood's suicide."

"You are depending on her?" he sneered.

"Why not?" demanded the judge. "She has more at stake than any of us. She has worked day and night on this case. It was she who aroused Dr. Bernstein's interest and persuaded him to collect the evidence against Capt. Clinton."

The banker frowned.

"She is the cause of the whole miserable business," he growled.

The door opened and the butler, entering, handed his master a card.

"Ah!" ejaculated the judge. "Here's our man! Show him up."

When the servant had disappeared Mr. Jeffries turned to his host. With a show of irritation he said:

"I think you put too much faith in that woman, but you'll find out—you'll find out."

Judge Brewster smiled.

"That's our object, isn't it, Mr. Jeffries—to find out?" he said sarcastically.

"What's the name of this mystery? To be Continued.

THE I. C. SCANDAL COMES TO A HEAD

Company Files Suits Demanding Restitution.

AN AGGREGATE OF $1,500,000

Two Corporations and Four Former Officials Are Defendants in Action Based Upon Recent Investigation of the Charges of Graft in the Car Repair, Equipment, Stores and Transportation Departments of the Railroad.

Chicago, June 7.—Suits aggregating $1,500,000 have been filed in the circuit court by the Illinois Central railroad against two corporations and four former officials of the road. The suits are the result, it is said, of the recent investigation made by high railroad officials into car repair and other charges.

Immediately following the filing of the suits Attorney Murray Nelson, acting for the road, went before Judge Walker and asked for the injunction against the defendants tying up their assets, including physical property and bank accounts. The defendants in the double action are: American Car and Equipment company; West Pullman Car works; J. C. Baker, president of the Chicago Car Heating company and former superintendent of machinery for the Illinois Central; William A.
Renshaw, former superintendent of machinery for the Illinois Central; O.
S. Keith, former superintendent of transportation for the Illinois Central; J. M. Taylor, former general storekeeper for the Illinois Central. The filing of the suits came as a surprise.

A ONE-BOOK COURSE

Governor Marshall Wins His Content-tion Regarding Geographies.

Indianapolis, June 7.—The state board of education decided to reject all bids for supplying geographies to the public schools of the state, and placed itself on record as favoring a one-book course in geography, instead of a two-book course. Governor Marshall had made a fight for the adoption of a one-book course, and he offered the resolution at the meeting.

To make sure that the publishers will produce books in line with the ideas of the board, a committee was appointed to consult and advise with the geographers in the preparation of the text of the books.

The action of the board was somewhat in the nature of a surprise, for book agents and the book houses which publish geographies had been extremely busy working up sentiment in the state against the one-book course.

LIKE AN ARSENAL

B. & O. Shops at Washington, Ind., Present Such an Appearance.

Washington, Ind., June 7.—Uniformed guards from Baltimore have arrived here to protect the machinists employed by the Baltimore & Ohio Southwestern railroad, and the shops today present the appearance of an arsenal, so many heavily armed men are on guard and so many stands of arms are stacked about the place.

The strikers have become very aggressive under the apparent ease with which the company has secured men to take their places, and have attacked and severely beaten the strike breakers whenever they appear outside the shops. One of the strike breakers was assaulted by four unknown men and was so severely injured that he had to be taken to a hospital.

The Case of the Markers.

Tipton, Ind., June 7.—H. C. Sheridan, referee in bankruptcy, has called a meeting of creditors in the proceeding against the Marker brothers, William and Noah, for next Tuesday, June 14, when trustees will be selected for the settlement of claims against the estate.

Fierce Fight in Dark.

Muncie, Ind., June 7.—Patrolmen
Harrold and Bedell captured William Burgin, aged twenty-four, a negro burglar, after a fierce fight in the dark. The negro was caught robbing the Graves cloakehouse, and he was taken to jail with difficulty.

Suicide of Prosperous Farmer.

Bloomington, Ind., June 7.—Grief over the death of his mother, it is believed, unbalanced the mind of Henry Eaton, aged forty-seven, a prosperous farmer near White Hall, and caused him to hang himself in a neighbor's barn.

The Coming Aviation Meet.

Indianapolis, June 7.—Arrangements for the big aviation meet, which begins at the Indianapolis motor speedway next Monday, are practically complete and some minor trial flights have already been made.

Lawyers to Get Together.

Indianapolis, June 7.—The fourteenth annual meeting of the Indiana
State Bar association at Indianapolis
July 6 and 7, will be attended by hundreds of lawyers from every part of the state.

JOHN L. MOORMAN

Republican Candidate For Congress in 13th Indiana District.

A SIDE LIGHT ON MAINE DISASTER

Former Indiana Congressman In a Reminiscent Strain.

POLITICS FORCED WAR ON US

According to John E. Lamb the Government Knew the Blowing Up of the Maine Was an Accident and Mc-Kinley Had Prepared a Pacific Message With That Understanding in View, but Mark Hanna Would Not Let It Go to Congress.

Indianapolis, June 7.—In an interview here, John E. Lamb of Terre Haute, who served in congress with the late Thomas B. Reed, speaker of the house, says that Reed always believed that the blowing up of the Maine in Havana harbor was the result of accident and in no way chargeable to the Spaniards. Lamb says he was at Palm Beach, Fla., in March, 1899, and there met Reed and Amos Cummings, congressman from New York at that time. Mr. Lamb continued: "Naturally the conversation drifted to the subject so much discussed at that time, the Spanish war.
During the conversation I said what was being so commonly remarked everywhere, that after the blowing up of the Maine by the Spaniards in the harbor at Havana, nothing in the world could have prevented the war. With this trite remark, Speaker Reed, in his well-known drawling voice and his most sarcastic manner, said:

"Lamb, does anybody out in Indiana believe that the Spaniards blew up the Maine?" I said, "Why, yes, nearly everybody I know believes it."
"Well," he said, "I don't know about that, but they don't anywhere else."

"This nettled me a little, and I said rather sharply, 'Mr. Speaker, what do you mean by that remark?' He said:

"I mean just what I say. I mean that the Spaniards did not blow up the Maine. I mean that the explosion was internal and not external. I mean that the board of inquiry which made the investigation knows that it was an internal and not an external explosion.
I mean that Admiral Sampson knows the explosion was internal and not external. I mean that the naval committee of the house knows and that Amos Cummings here, who is a member of it, knows that the explosion was internal and not external. I mean that President McKinley knows that the explosion was internal and not external.

"I mean further that on the Saturday before congress convened in the special session which declared war upon Spain I was sent for by the president to come to the White House and read the message which he intended to send to congress on Monday, a message which advised that Spain's request for arbitration be granted, and which I heartily approved. On the Sunday following, however, Mark Hanna, Stephen B. Elkins and a few others of that ilk went to the White House and persuaded the president that if he sent that message on Monday the Republicans would lose the fall elections and perhaps the control of the national house of representatives, with the result that the message which I saw was destroyed and the next day at noon the message from the president was received by congress which made the declaration of war inevitable."

War on Rats.

Princeton, Ind., June 7.—Rats were killed in large numbers in Gibson county yesterday in observance of "rat-killing day." Farmers and town people carried on the work enthusiastically and in some places a general cleaning up of premises resulted.

DROPPED DEAD WHILE AT WORK

Mrs. Christian Reiger Expires While Sweeping Sidewalk in Front of Home in St. Paul.

ASSISTANCE ARRIVED TOO LATE

Had Been a Resident of That Vicinity For Many Years Where She Had Many Friends.

Mrs. Martha Reiger, wife of Christian Reiger, dropped dead on the sidewalk in front of her home in St. Paul following a sudden attack of heart trouble, yesterday, says the Shelbyville Democrat. She was seemingly in the best of health and her death was a decided shock to her relatives and hundreds of friends.

Mrs. Reiger had arisen at an early hour yesterday morning, had put out a large washing and was sweeping the sidewalk in front of her home when the fatal attack of heart trouble occurred. Her husband was working in the garden in the rear of their home and after falling she lay on the sidewalk for several minutes before she was seen by Mrs. Morris Dilts, a neighbor.

Mrs. Dilts immediately rushed to her side, calling other neighbors and Mr. Reiger to her assistance. Together they carried the body inside the house and hastily summoned Dr. Williams. He arrived in a few minutes, but all signs of life had vanished and the physician was forced to tell the sorrowing husband and neighbors that no earthly assistance could be rendered.

The deceased was one of St. Paul's best known and most highly respected women. She was about sixty years of age and was born and raised in St. Paul and vicinity. Among her hundreds of close friends she was always held in the highest esteem and her influence was correspondingly wide.

She was a daughter of the late Rev. George Reed, who was for many years pastor of the United Brethren church in the Reed neighborhood in Noble township, Shelby county. Mrs. Reiger had always retained her membership in the church and the funeral services will probably be held there with interment in the church cemetery.

The husband of the deceased and one sister, Mrs. Samuel Guess of St. Paul, are the only near relatives who survive her. Two brothers, Peter and William Reed, have died within the last year.

Suggestion Has Been Made That Matinee Races be Held at Riverside Park.

FIREWORKS DISPLAY AT NIGHT

One Large Purse Will Buy More Than Many Small Ones—Some Ideas.

A big Fourth in Rushville? Well why not?

Though the breezes are still cooler than they ought to be in April people are realizing that Independence day is less than a month away. And the suggestion is made that Rushville have "somethin' doin'." The force of this suggestion has come from horsemen who are training horses at Riverside Park. They think some matinee races on the mile track on the afternoon of the Fourth would be interesting. There seems to be little doubt about that. And it is said most of the trainers would be willing to enter the contest. When it is taken into consideration that there are some thirty fast ones at the park the possibilities for an interesting afternoon seem to be pretty good.

And still another suggestion has been made in connection with a Fourth of July celebration. Never has Rushville had what might properly be called a display of fireworks. Each year different citizens spend several dollars and have the individual displays which are all right, of course. But no one individual feels like spending enough money to get expensive and really beautiful pieces for the occasion.

In one of the best resident districts on the north side in Indianapolis it has been the custom for years for the whole neighborhood to make up a purse and buy the fireworks and engage a band for the evening. Anyone who sees one of those displays feels that he has seen something worth while and the cost is not heavy to any one man. If it should be rainy on the night of the Fourth as it is so often the display is postponed until the weather is suitable.

This idea seemed to appeal to the man who made the suggestion. He thought some plan could be arranged whereby all the displays be combined into one and given at some suitable place. He points out that there is less danger of fire and less danger of injury since two or three men would do all the firing and use proper care in doing it.

And the suggestion may be carried out.

DENIES THAT SHE IS THE GIRL

Miss Goldie Lowe Says That She Has Been Living on Farm South of This City.

NEVER WENT TO INDIANAPOLIS

Miss Goldie Lowe, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Lowe, living two miles southeast of Manilla, denies that she has been in Indianapolis on a visit and that her father was compelled to go after her and bring her home. She says that she has been employed on the Abner Enos farm, about five miles south of Rushville for four weeks and has never been off the place in that time. The Shelbyville Democrat carried a story to the effect that she had gone to Indianapolis and had refused to return when her father sent her the money, and that he was compelled to go after her. Miss Lowe says a mistake may have been made as her cousin, Miss Lorene Lowe, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. East Lowe, had gone to Indianapolis on a visit.

"DRYS" WIN IN HAGERSTOWN

Will be Without Saloons For Another Two Years, Victors by Majority of Nine.

POSTPONED AT CAMBRIDGE CITY

Attorneys For "Wets" Granted Time to Investigate Petition Asking For Blanket Remonstrance.

Finding that it would be unavailing to continue the fight against the petition of the temperance forces of Jefferson township, Wayne county, (Hagerstown), declaring the township dry by blanket remonstrance, the liberals, Monday gave up the fight in the Commissioners Court, and Jefferson township for the second time in its history was declared "dry" by blanket remonstrance, says the Richmond Palladium.

The fight in Jackson township, Cambridge City, however, is still being carried on. The attorneys for the "wets" asked for time to investigate the petition and, no objection being made by the temperance forces to this arrangement, the county commissioners set Wednesday, June 15, as the date for the hearing of the petition for the blanket remonstrance.

In Jackson township the liberals have a majority of only thirty-one to overcome, but as the majority in Jefferson was only eight and the liberals were unsuccessful, it is foretold by the "drys" of Jackson that they will have no more success in their township. The attorneys for the "wets" stated in the Commissioner's Court that their desire for more time was in order to make a thorough investigation of the petition, a thing which they have been unable to do, owing to the limited time. The attorneys further declared that unless they could challenge successfully a sufficient number of names to defeat the petition, they would notify the commissioners that the liberals had given up.

There were originally 624 signatures to the petition for the remonstrance filed by the Jackson township temperance organization. The number was reduced by the withdrawals filed later by the liberals. Among the list of the withdrawals were the names of over twenty persons who had never signed the remonstrance petition, and one colored, aged about 90. Death also reduced the number by one.

Net Assets $2 for $1

This is a unique feature. According to the conditions of the stock contract, the net assets—with Bills and Accounts Payable deducted—shall always be in excess of double the amount of outstanding preferred stock. Net assets of two dollars for one must be on hand at all times. There are now on hand $3,000,000 worth of assets.

And every dollar of assets is a LIVE dollar. No dead material. No useless machinery. All earning profits.

Even the Good Will of the Dodge Company is not included in the statement of assets. Yet the Good Will, according to the usual way of computation, according to accepted financial practice, is worth millions of dollars.

We have so much faith in this investment that we have given it our public and unqualified approval. The people of Indiana have never had an opportunity to excel this.

We want every Indianian of large or small means to investigate.
